YUGOSLAVIA GIVEN 48 HRS. TO MEET U. S. ULTIMATUM FOR RELEASE OF AMERICAN AIRMEN SHOT DOWN BY YUGOSLAV FIGHTERS OR HAVE MATTER GO BEFORE U.N.

Acheson Puts Tito's Regime Into Crucible of International
Good Faith—Demands Are in One of Most Sharply-Worded Diplomatic Communications in Recollection Of Veteran Diplomatic Observers

By John A. Reichmann
International News Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Aug. 22—(INS)—Yugoslavia has less than 48 hours today to meet a United States ultimatum demanding the release of any American airmen shot down by Yugoslav fighters or have the matter placed before the United Nations Security Council.
Acting Secretary of State Dean Acheson put Marshall Tito's regime—into a crucible of international good faith by demanding that the fliers be handed over within 48 hours.

Acheson handed the ultimatum to the Yugoslav charge d'affaires at the State Department at 5:09 p. m. EST Wednesday.
The Undersecretary of State presented the United States demands in one of the most sharply worded diplomatic communications in the recollection of veteran diplomatic observers.
For the first time the United States took the position that, by shooting down two American planes which had lost their way, Yugoslavia had violated her pledges under the United Nations charter not to use force except in self defense. It noted that the American planes, shot down on Aug. 9 and 19, were unarmed and should have had the aid, not the bullets of Yugoslavia.

It proposed these alternatives:
1. "If within 48 hours from the receipt of this note by the Yugoslav government these demands are complied with the release of the fliers, the United States Government will determine its course in the light of the evidence then secured and the efforts of the Yugoslav government to right the wrong done."
2. "If, however, within that time these demands are not complied with, the United States Government will call upon the Security Council of the United Nations to meet promptly and to take appropriate action."

This warning was predicated by "demands" that Tito release the occupants of the two planes—in event any of the five crewmen on the second are still alive—and insure their safe conduct across the border and that U. S. diplomats be enabled to communicate with them.
To observers familiar with the great concern of the United States in the deterioration of American relations with Russia and her satellite states, the threat to go to the Security Council seemed something of an anticlimax.
However, those more deeply steeped in the current situation saw in it a willingness by the State Department to test Russia's oft-proclaimed intention to depend on the United Nations to maintain the peace.
Hitherto ultimatums have implied the use of force. In this case the threat was the Security Council, rather than the dictatorial threat of invasion and hostilities.

Those assisting in the arrangement of the program were C. Stanley Haldeman, Thomas Wrigley, William R. Kramer and Durrell Frederick, Chief of Police James A. Schatz, Elwood W. Sanderling and Merrill McIntyre.
A capacity audience attended the first concert of the new Owls Band in Perkaskie Park auditorium Sunday afternoon.
The band was directed by J. Philip Landenberg.
Assisting were the drum and bugle corps of the Forrest Lodge Post Veterans of Foreign Wars; Miss Ethel Hunsberger, Perkaskie, soprano; Pts. Burton Covne, baritone; Coopersburg; Kenneth Frederick, youthful Sellersville vocalist, and the Kramer Marimba Trio, Perkaskie. The piano accompanist for the vocalists was Miss "Betty" Landenberg, Perkaskie.
Those assisting in the arrangement of the program were C. Stanley Haldeman, Thomas Wrigley, William R. Kramer and Durrell Frederick, Chief of Police James A. Schatz, Elwood W. Sanderling and Merrill McIntyre.

The Rev. Paul Baird officiated at the ceremony, and presiding at the organ was Miss Katharine Keating. Miss Margaret Fallon, Corson street, sang "On This Day Oh Beautiful Mother," Schubert's "Ave Maria" and "Became."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of white lace and net over tulle. The lace bodice featured a sweetheart neckline and three-quarter length sleeves; the net skirt was full and trimmed with lace. Her fingertip length veil with a sweetheart poke headpiece was trimmed with orange blossoms. She wore a necklace of pearls, white slippers, and carried an arm bouquet of white roses.

Miss Theresa Gallagher, sister of the bride, served as bridesmaid. She was attired in a floor-length gown of pale blue marquisette over tulle of the same tone. The bodice was shirred in front and had a sweetheart neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. The full skirt and bodice were trimmed with narrow ruffles of self-material. She wore silver slippers, a blue net, open crown head-piece, and carried an arm bouquet of pink roses.

Mrs. Gallagher, mother of the bride, was attired in a lime and black silk print dress, black accessories, and wore a corsage of white asters. Mrs. Snyder, mother of the groom, wore a dark blue silk dress with matching accessories, and a corsage of white asters.

ARE AMERICANS MORONS?

The question which serves as title for this editorial is called to mind by a tabloid, "The Democrat", which is now being released upon the American public as part of the New Deal's fall campaign. It certainly reads as though written by, of and for morons.

The paper is politically important, as it is obviously intended to be a "text-book" for campaign speakers in this and other states.

As a historical document, the publication is a strange piece of editing. Those who have followed recent history through the newspapers, and are seriously trying to make up their minds about current issues, will hardly recognize these matters as presented.

It is a bold piece of fiction, a political fairy-tale. Just as real life is forgotten in nursery stories, so are facts and fundamental truths brushed aside and ignored. Psychologists probably would accept the paper as evidence of what they call "retreat from realities", and take it to be proof that the high command of the Democratic Party is unwilling to face its record.

Everything about the publication is strange. Alongside its title, the newspaper has been in the habit of using quotations. The choice of authors for the August issue is as amazing a linking of individuals as one could find—Thomas Jefferson, the great defender of the rights of man, is one; and the other is Sidney Hillman!

Fittingly, Hillman's quotation is on the "left"; but by a careful piece of editing, the publishers of this piece of propaganda make it appear that Hillman was interested in letting the American people express their "judgment" on election day, whereas the outstanding fact concerning Hillman and his PAC is that he built the biggest political machine ever constructed for the purpose of keeping voters from expressing their judgment.

YOUTHS ADMIT THE THEFT OF CHICKENS

Made "Hauls" in Bucks and Montgomery Counties;
Used Army Jeep

HAVE HEARING TODAY

Two 17-year-old boys who traveled about Bucks and Montgomery counties allegedly stealing chickens, used an army jeep for their jaunts.

The two arrested by Penna. State Police two days ago are Carl H. Carter, of Fricks, and George W. Taylor, of Staunton, Va.

Carter told State Police that he is in the "poultry business" as a hauler, and because he was hard up for some money, he decided to steal some chickens to make up losses. He took Taylor—who is vacationing at the Carter place—with him on the escapades.

According to Trooper John Mitchell, of the Doylestown sub-station of State Police, troopers of the Collegeville sub-station were on patrol several nights ago when they observed a jeep parked in a corn field in that section of Montgomery county. Several minutes later the officers found two crates in the field a few minutes later.

At the Collegeville sub-station the boys admitted they had been stealing chickens in Montgomery county. Knowing that Bucks county had reported several chicken thefts, the Doylestown State Police sub-station was contacted.

The two boys were questioned by Troopers Mitchell and Sauer and a confession was obtained from both.

Carter and Taylor took the officers over the Bucks County territory where chickens had been stolen, and re-enacted the thefts.
They admitted stealing about 30 chickens from the farm of Wilson Ruth, East Rockhill township, visiting the place twice in the last two weeks.

Other thefts were admitted as follows: Farm of W. C. Sutherland, Chalfont R. D. 1, 20 chickens; farm of Myer Rosengardner, near Silverdale, 15 chickens, and farm of Harvey Moyer, New Britain township, 10 chickens.

PREVENT ACCIDENTS IS MARTIN'S KEYNOTE

Chief of Police Linford J.
Jones Attends Governor's Conference

DRIVE FOR SAFETY

Prevent highway accidents and conduct a safety campaign which has never been exceeded for intensiveness, was the keynote of the safety conference called by Governor Edward Martin and attended by Chief of Police Linford J. Jones and other enforcement officers on Monday. The conference was held in the House of Representatives in the Capitol at Harrisburg.

Chief Jones says there were over 1,000 police chiefs, district attorneys, hotel men and safety engineers at the conference. It was presided over by David Harris, Secretary of Revenue.

After a thorough discussion of highway safety and how best to prevent accidents on the highways of Pennsylvania, it was decided that efforts should be made to have the Legislature change the motor vehicle laws so that municipal and state police can make arrests for motor violations on sight, instead of being compelled, as at present, to have summonses issued.

Chief Jones was the only representative from Bucks County attending the conference. He says there was particular stress placed upon curbing jay-walkers, need for more playgrounds to keep children off the streets and out of the path of traffic, extension of bus stops to 75 feet from street intersections, better lighting systems on highways, control of pedestrians, physical qualification examinations periodically for motor vehicle operators, placing of sidewalks in rural areas, the same as in boroughs and cities, posting of highways with signs advising pedestrians to walk against traffic.

The three "E's"—Education, Engineering and Enforcement—were also emphasized.
Ticket-fixing came in for severe criticism by Attorney General James H. Duff, who said public opinion must be molded against this practice by a strict, unqualified enforcement of the law under all circumstances.

It was also suggested that there be laws passed making the owner of a car who left his keys in the machine responsible if the machine is stolen. It was said that youths are encouraged to steal cars when the keys are found in it. They take joy rides and drive in a reckless manner and often cause accidents.

Paris—It was learned authoritatively today that the possibility of assigning American Flying Fortresses or fighter escorts on aerial routes running close to Yugoslavia has been discussed within the American peace delegation.

In this connection great significance is attached to Secretary of State James F. Byrnes' conference yesterday with United States military officials.

Nothing of an official character is being said about this conference but it is known that the question of military measures to protect American planes flying in the vicinity of Yugoslavia was the subject of discussion.

Among those taking part in the conference was Gen. Bedell Smith, Ambassador to Moscow and Gen. Eisenhower's former chief of staff. Smith is presently attending the peace conference as an adviser to the Secretary of State.

Believe U. S. Note Seriously Discussed by Russia-Yugoslavia

Paris—The United States ultimatum to Yugoslavia on the downing of American planes was believed the subject of serious discussion between Soviet Russia and Yugoslavia during the Paris peace conference today.

While the merits of a soft peace for Italy was the official subject on the agenda, Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov had a series of talks and an exchange of notes with Yugoslavian Vice-Premier Edvard Kardelj. On one occasion, the two delegates conferred for forty minutes in the lounge. They paced back and forth in earnest discussion. Later, while Premier Constantin Tsaldaris of Greece was speaking, Molotov sent a note to Kardelj.

UNCLE SAM'S NEW ARMY

Although the United States Army recruiting program has not yet succeeded in rebuilding the Army entirely on a volunteer basis, it has one record achievement to its credit. Since last fall, nearly 900,000 men have joined the new Regular Army and this is more men than have ever before voluntarily gone into any army, at any time, any place in the world.

Nevertheless the need exists for more recruits and the nation will be the better for it if they are men who go into the service of their own volition and by their own decision. Given enough enlistments, the operation of the Selective Service can be suspended, thus giving the nation an Army made up of those who like the soldier's life and who therefore will become more efficient soldiers.

The service is today far more attractive to youth than it was in the past. Under the new scale the private is given a starting monthly pay base of $75 and if and when he is promoted to first sergeant he receives $165. In addition to that his clothing, food, lodging and medical care are free and he is entitled to generous retirement privileges.

Moreover, the Army today offers educational and trade facilities to recruits which were not even thought of a few years ago. Wise young men, with a concern for both the present and the future, will do well to consider seriously the opportunities which this branch of the armed service now offers.

GOOD SEATS OR NO GAME

A new version of the sit-down strike is reported from Atlanta, Ga., where students of Georgia Tech are provoked at the school athletic authorities over allotment of student seats at the football stadium.

The athletic authorities have allotted the student seats extending into the end zone, whereas the students, many of whom are war veterans and married, want seats between the 30-yard lines. If they do not get the seats where they want them, they threaten to stage a mass sit-down on the field to prevent the playing of the big home game with Navy.

The students really have something there and it's easy to sympathize with their point of view. Few spectators will be able to recall seeing a college football game in which the students were not assigned the choicest seats. This is as it should be. After all, the student body furnishes the football players and the cheering and takes the greatest pride in the team. Without the support of the students there would be no college football. They are entitled to every consideration.

It looks very much as if the Georgia Tech authorities had gone a little commercial in their seating arrangement policy. The publicity they're getting cannot be doing them much good. It's a policy they may feel moved to revise.

Eastern postman walked 57,000 miles and, strangely, he wasn't looking for a house in which to live.

ARE AMERICANS MORONS?

If the editors of this document do not assume that most American voters are morons, how is one to explain the manner in which all politically embarrassing facts are treated as though they did not exist?

For example, again and again in a rising crescendo of rage, the paper blames the Republicans in Congress for the misadventures of the OPA.

The writers make no attempt to deal with such realities as the facts that the Republicans are in a minority in both houses of Congress, that it was President Truman and not a Republican who vetoed the first OPA compromise, and that this compromise was ardently urged by a large faction of the Democratic Party, without whose support it would never have had a chance of passing.

Presumably the authors of such monstrous distortions believe in the remark of an earlier New Deal political spokesman, "The American people are too damn dumb to know . . ."

Are they correct in their opinion? Unfortunately, no one can tell until after the fall elections. If they are right, and if this election is going to be stamped by pressure, slush-funds and propaganda, then Uncle Sam is due for a morning-after headache in which national collectivism may be only the least of his troubles.

But the most interesting angle of "The Democrat" will be its effect upon the millions of followers of Thomas Jefferson who have stood aghast as their party was stolen from them and turned over to be the tool of Communist-dominated labor-boss outsiders who have never bothered even to join the party they have "muscle-d in on."

The Hillman quotation referred to is itself almost an insult; coming as it does from a "non-political" boss who had more to say about the choice of the man now occupying the White House than all the Democratic party put together.

The prominence thus given to the words of the late Sidney Hillman are proof of the assumption, already believed by numerous Democrats, that the party has been sold out bag and baggage to the PAC.

With half of the Democratic Party already up in arms over the rising influence of Communism in their party management, with CIO unions in revolt over the Communist dominance of both CIO and PAC affairs, with such New Deal spokesmen as the Philadelphia Record conceding that the Communist grip on the CIO (and hence on the Democratic Party) is a great menace which must be broken—what has "The Democrat" to say about Communism?

Nothing more than to dismiss it on the old pretext that it is all "red-baiting." The Democrat's Director of Publicity, Sam O'Neal, quoting no less an eminent authority than himself, says "stooges" have "trotted out all the old bogey-men," and "once more are screaming communism."

It would take volumes to deal adequately with all the mendacities and distortions in the eight-page tabloid. That's the idea, of course; New Deal owned printing presses can grind out campaign lies faster than they can be sought out and denied.

As a sample of its tactics, under a heading of "dangerous business" it attempts to liquidate Representative Harold Knutson, of Minnesota, because he recently said that Federal expenses could be reduced enough to permit a 20 per cent tax reduction.

The heading itself is almost the only concession this article makes to truth—since of course anything which calls attention to the wholesale waste by the Truman Administration of the public's resources is extremely "dangerous business" for the Democrats.

But going on from there, the editor first attempts to reply to the Knutson arguments by an appeal to prejudice; he is called "Wall Street's usually wide-open mouthpiece."

Then he is pilloried on the grounds that he would slash national defense, veterans pensions, housing, etc., etc., for the sake of saving some of his selfish friends a few dollars in income tax.

This is typical New Deal political argument. The fact is that if the Knutson program were to be adopted in whole, this nation would still be spending at least twice what the late President Roosevelt, himself no piker in spending, laid out in his palmist pre-war year, in the peak of the defense program.

As to the Federal payroll, which is the most scandalous single political sell-out of the American public's rights and resources ever perpetrated, the editor says cheerfully: "President Truman has been steadily reducing the Federal payroll and will continue to make every possible cut there."

One does not have to go outside the Democratic Party to have this statement denied categorically, and the denial backed up with an unanswerable array of facts and figures.

PLAY SOFTBALL GAME
DESPITE THE RAIN

Hulmeville and the Church of Our Saviour squeezed in six innings of a soft-ball game out at Hulmeville, in between showers last night, while the other clubs were running for shelter. And at the close of hostilities the Church of Our Saviour was on the long end of an 8-3 score when the rains came in the 6th inning.

Al Zanni got his club off to a 2-0 lead in the first inning when he singled with Cianfarro and DeLise on base, scoring both. Hulmeville knotted the count in the second when Kimbel Faust drove in both runs with a single. But the Church of Our Saviour came back with one in the fourth, added two more in the fifth, and won going away with another trio of unearned runs in the 6th on a walk, two singles, and a three base error after two were out. Don Haefner singled to drive in Hulmeville's last run in the 6th.

Both scheduled games between Cornwells and Bensalem, and Calvary and Newportville did manage to get in 2½ innings of play before another shower finally brought a halt to the proceedings. At the time play was disrupted, Newportville led, 2-1, with Calvary at bat in the third, having runners on second and third with no outs. Both of these contests were rescheduled to be played Monday night.

Report Fights Spreading
In Philippine Islands

MANILA, Aug. 22.—(INS)—Fighting between Philippine government forces and armed peasant groups was reported spreading throughout the central plain of Luzon today.

The government threw heavy armor into the struggle and several towns defended by Hukbalahap peasant army adherents were reportedly razed by artillery.

Reports of fighting came from scattered fronts in the provinces of Pampanga, Nueva Ecija and Bulacan.

The government had imposed a truce on its own forces more than a month ago in central Luzon and despite continued reports of clashes, Interior Secretary Jose Zulueta refused to state the truce was officially ended.

The guerrillas of the area, under terms of a government peace offer, were given until August 31 to surrender their arms.

Zulueta said the surrender deadline had not been changed but admitted that Philippine military police had resumed their campaign against holdout Huk groups on direct orders from his office.

The government official declared that in the future military police will open fire immediately on any group of five or more armed men unless they have previously reported their intention of entering government "disarmament cantonments" to give up their weapons.

PENNSYLVANIA FARM ROUNDUP

By Suzanne Flick
(U. S. Penna. Farm Editor)
HARRISBURG, Aug. 22—(INS)—The U. S. Soil Conservation Service has reported that its program embraced 281,050 acres of Pennsylvania farmland this year.

State Conservationist Ivan McKeever said the measures embraced 70,245 acres of contour planting, 11,500 acres of cover crops, 59,936 acres of strip cropping, 25,553 acres of field and gully planting, 47,935 acres of crop rotations and 20,226 acres of forest improvements.

Farmers had constructed 41.9 miles of terraces and 344,490 lineal feet of diversion ditches, McKeever said. Another 162,457 feet of channels were constructed for drainage systems, he added.

Fifteen farm ponds were built and 269,217 feet of water-courses constructed, McKeever reported.

The service's field men aided farmers prepare plans for 187,947 acres of improvements and expanded reservoirs, woodlands and irrigation channels, according to McKeever.

"During the first six months of the year, actual accomplishments exceeded last year's progress by 104 per cent," he stated. "Farmer-participants drafted plans for 25 per cent more projects."

The goal for the 1947 program would be double this year's achievements, McKeever said.

The State Emergency Food Committee has renewed its plea for elimination of food wastes.

"The time to conserve on grains, vegetables and fruits is during the time of plenty," said Chairman Clyde A. Zehner.

Pennsylvania fruit growers were expected to harvest more than 160,000 tons of fruit during the 1946 season.

This year's production of apples, peaches and pears was estimated at 6,158,000 bushels, according to the State Agriculture Department. Grapes, exceeding the 10-year average record, were figured at 18,500 tons, the Department reported.

The cherry crop, estimated at 5300 tons, was said to be light but represented a 1200-ton increase over last year's output, the Department said.

State Agriculture Secretary Miles Horst has reported Pennsylvania farmers were harvesting bumper grain crops.

"Pennsylvania farms this year will contribute a generous share to the national increase in food production," he declared. "Favorable July weather added over half a million bushels to grain crops."

All grain crops except rye and buckwheat will be "well over" the 10-year (1935-1944) average, Horst predicted.

The latest crop surveys placed anticipated outputs at the following bushels: Winter wheat, 19,755,000; corn, 58,824,000; oats, 28,911,000; buckwheat, 2,282,000; barley, 3,384,000; rye, 560,000.

Tobacco producers appeared blessed with a bountiful 53,680,000 pound crop of cigar and cigarette leaf.

Ideal growing conditions in July added 1,888,000 pounds of tobacco to the crop prospects, according to the Federal-State Crop Reporting Survey. Yields were estimated to top average production by 10 million pounds and exceed last year's output by 7,200,000 pounds.

BEEF EXHIBIT

BATON ROUGE, La.—(INS)—Plans are underway for selecting 15 of Louisiana's best 4-H club beef calves for exhibition at the International Livestock show in Chicago next December.

NURSE SHORTAGE

DAYTON, O.—(INS)—A serious shortage of nurses is predicted by Miami Valley Hospital director O. K. Pike, unless there is a marked increase in students entering hospitals in September.

Flower Exhibits Take Time to Properly Arrange

By Edith M. Hopkins
Home Economics Representative

It's time for local fairs and flower shows and homemakers are planning their flower arrangements to exhibit. Planning and arranging flowers for exhibits requires more care than for those used in the home.

Judges look for perfection in an arrangement. This means they will check exhibits for good proportion, outline, balance, and for accent. They will also grade the relationship of the container to the plant material, color combinations used, and individuality of arrangement.

Look over materials and containers available and decide how to use them. It may be wise for the homemaker not to use flowers she has not arranged before. Choose material that will hold up well. The container should fit the flowers in shape and color. If the container has a design, carry it through in the arrangement of the flowers. When crystal containers are used, the design starts from the base of the stems.

Some type of holder will keep flowers in place and give the arrangement a good outline. With a glass container, the holder should not show.

Since flowers should look happy in an arrangement, put them in a receptacle that is neither too small nor too large, and combining colors that intensify the beauty of each bloom. Flowers look best when they are arranged much as they grow, although some will fit into stylized groupings if necessary.

Refreshing Jellyed Meat Loaf For Summer Meals

A cool, flavorful, Jellyed Meat Loaf is as tempting a dish as you can serve on a hot summer day. At the same time, it brings meat into the menu, taking the place of the usual hot main dish. Another asset of a jellyed loaf is the fact that it is made well in advance of the meal.

For an easy and refreshing family dinner, try the first recipe given below. This is a basic recipe, and may be varied by the use of different kinds of cooked meat and different seasonings. The Ham Mousse recipe is ideal for a company luncheon or buffet dinner.

Jellyed Meat Loaf
1½ tablespoons plain gelatine
1/3 cup cold water
2 cups boiling stock or 1 cup tomato juice and 1 cup water or stock
1½ teaspoon salt
1½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 tablespoon grated onion
½ cup grated carrots
½ cup diced celery
½ cup chopped pickles or sliced stuffed olives
2 cups diced or chopped cooked meat

Soak gelatine in cold water 5 minutes. Add to boiling liquid, and stir until dissolved. Add seasonings; let cool. When it starts to set, add diced meat, vegetables and pickles or olives. Turn into loaf pan (or mold) dipped in cold water. Chill in refrigerator until stiff. Unmold on cold platter and garnish as desired.

Note: For a more tart gelatine base, ¼ cup mild vinegar may replace an equal amount of the hot liquid. Chopped green pepper, sliced radishes, or chopped onion may also be used in the gelatine. Hard-cooked eggs may be added with the meat, or used as a garnish on the platter. Ripe olives and carrot sticks also make nice garnishes.

Ham Mousse
1½ tablespoons plain gelatine
¼ cup cold water
2/3 cup boiling water or light stock
3 cups minced cooked ham
1½ teaspoon paprika
Few grains cayenne
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
1 cup heavy cream, whipped

Soak gelatine in cold water 5 minutes. Add boiling water and stir until dissolved. Add ham, seasonings and chopped parsley. Fold in whipped cream, and turn into mold dipped in cold water. (A ring mold may be used.) Set in refrigerator until stiff. Unmold onto platter; garnish with small lettuce leaves, sliced cucumber and tomato wedges.

NEW CASTLE—(INS)—Cooperative driving was demonstrated when two elderly ladies motored through New Castle in an elderly automobile. While one drove the car, the other made the proper signals.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 16 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up at night. Frequent urination during the night is a sign that something is wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and let it become a chronic one. When disorder of kidney function permits poisons to remain in your blood, it may also cause backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, nervous, pulling under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a pleasant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's gives your kidneys a rest and will help the 16 miles of tiny tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

KUPER AND GUYE WILL APPEAR IN BENEFIT MATCHES

KUPER IS UNBEATEN

Pancho Namee-Matt Daniels
Bout Will Windup
8-Round Card

"Chuck" Kuper and "Jimmy" Guye, who were members of the undeclared Camp Lee, Va., army boxing team, will appear in the St. Ann's A. A. outdoor arena, Monday night, in a show which will be a benefit for the St. Ann's football team.

Kuper has been labeled as a future champion by his manager, "Johnny" McGuigan and since his release from the army is unbeaten in professional boxing. It was Kuper who won bout after bout to carry his Camp Lee boxing team to victories over the other camps in this country.

Although Kuper's opponent is uncertain at the present time, it most likely will be "Charlie" Hilton, who surprised the fans here several weeks ago by decisively beating Eli Wesley, long a favorite with the local fight fans.

Bouts with Kuper and Guye as the participants are only two of the supporting bouts of the Pancho Namee-Matt Daniels windup of eight rounds.

Daniels hail from Trenton and will be seeking revenge for a stalemate, Larry Gibson, who was beaten by Namee in their last bout at the local ring several weeks ago.

Members of the St. Ann's football team and also members of the organization are now selling tickets for the bout and the largest crowd of the season is anticipated.

No general admission tickets will be sold until the night of the show and then they will not go on sale until seven o'clock. Reserve tickets may also be secured at the Diamond Sporting Goods Store, Mill street, or the St. Ann's clubhouse, Wood street.

HOW YOU CAN LEARN TO SWIM

By International News Service

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 20—

(INS)—Earl Montgomery, one of the nation's most proficient swimming instructors, recommends learning to swim in your own home.

Montgomery, who once rode a shark at a Miami, Fla., hotel pool, says it is easy to teach your five or six-year-old child to swim. You can use the bathtub or even the wash basin, he claims.

Recently discharged from the U. S. Army, Montgomery is now in charge of all city park swimming pools in Indianapolis.

He says that the number of yearly drownings in America could be reduced by 95 per cent if everyone could swim at least 25 or 30 feet. Swimming is something anyone can learn—should learn, he insists.

Here's Montgomery's theory in a few easy, simple lessons:

1. Teach your child to hold his breath. This can be done by taking him on your lap and having him imitate you as you inhale.

2. Fill the bathtub or wash basin. Have the youngster place his head under the water while holding his breath.

3. Have him exhale under water.

4. Teach him to open his eyes under water.

These steps should be thoroughly mastered before proceeding with the next exercises.

5. In order to develop the proper kick, one of the most important parts of swimming, have the child lie across a bed, his legs straight but not stiff, and his toes slightly pointed. Then teach him to move his legs up and down in short 12 or 14 inch strokes.

6. Teach him the arm motion next. Keeping the elbows straight, the youngster should bend over and make long, straight pulls, first with one arm and then the other—in windmill fashion.

The following instructions must be taken in a swimming pool. Montgomery urges that the above six steps be mastered before rushing to the next.

7. The child should be permitted to play in shallow water and practice the things learned at home because the presence of a large body of water usually is a new experience for a youngster.

8. After he has become accustomed to the pool, he should learn to float. Stand in front of the child in water not over his hips. Let him hold your hands. Have him take a big breath and put his face in the water. Then move backward slowly, pulling him easily through the water. This will teach the child that water will support him.

9. After he has learned to float by himself, show the child how to stand up in the water from a floating position. Do this by pulling the knees under the chin to upset the balance of the body, then letting the feet down to the bottom of the pool.

10. Next teach him to master the kick and swimming stroke in the shallow water. The difficult step is the proper combination of the kick and stroke. It will take a little time. When accomplished, however, the youngster will be swimming.

10. The last step is to teach the child to hold his head out of the water while swimming. Place one hand behind the youngster's head, the other hand under his chin and have him swim while you hold his head out of the water.

Many a big deal has been made possible through a small want ad.

NEROSIS CONTAGIOUS

BERKLEY, Cal.—(INS)—A University of California psychiatry professor contends that neurosis may be as contagious as any disease. This is the opinion of Dr. Karl Bowman, who said over-exposure to those having neurotic conditions may induce neurosis.
